INFORMATION REGARDING FIFTH REGISTRATION

Plans are under way to register approximately 220,000 young Texans between the ages of eighteen and twenty, inclusive, on June 30, General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director announced today.

All men who were born on or after January 1, 1922, and on or before June 30, 1924, must register between 7 A. M. and 9 P. M., on Tuesday June 30, General Page warned, and they must be careful to give their correct address where official communications will reach them without delay.

"This Fifth Registration will complete the inventory of the Nation's potential manpower, although, under current policy, men under twenty are not subject to induction for combat duty."

"Local boards will officially designate places of registration in their particular areas. While anyone who is unavoidably away from his home on June 30 may register at the registration place most convenient on that day, all registrants are urged to make every effort to register with their own local boards to avoid possible confusion in the future. Any person who must register away from home is warned to specify his HOME ADDRESS so that his registration card may be forwarded promptly to his own local board."

"A registrant who has more than one place of residence may choose which one he wants recorded as his place of residence, and in making the choice he designates the local board which will always have jurisdiction over him."

WANT A HOME IN HONDO?

Do you want a home in Hondo? If so, solve the problem by turning at once to the plat elsewhere printed in this paper of the beautiful Barkuloo Addition. Select therefrom a lot or acreage plat, check it and come at once to the Fletcher Daveses and secure it with the initial down payment. Then proceed to arrange for building to suit your own desires. Better select a second or third choice, as a number are sold that are not so noted on the printed plat.

It will be noted on the plat that two streets extend north and south through the addition, from the Schmidt Street along its northern border to an intersection with the Yancey-D'Hanis road along its southern boundary. These streets have been recently graded as 50-ft. streets by County Commissioner Alfred A. Bader as southward extensions in direct line, without offsets, of College Avenue and Live Oak Avenue. These streets extend from Lucas Street, the northern boundary of the high school property, southward on the west and east side, respectively of the school property, thus rendering the school easy of access from any point in the Addition. The northern-most east-and-west street was also opened up by Commissioner Bader as a 45-ft. street and the other one can be opened at the convenience of any home builder.

The most desirable new location for a home in Hondo, the most reasonable price and on the easiest terms—that's the Barkuloo Addition.

THE LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

Because we have a war on our hands is no reason why we should close our eyes and ears and not know what is going on around us. Fact is, it would be hard to think up anything worse than doing so. If we are only half as alert and on our toes, as we claim, we don't need to be single track in our head. We can build tanks and jeeps, etc., and still use our brain for something else. You get too intent and single track at a circus parade, and you may lose your time-piece.

What are you driving at or getting at, says Henry. I got in mind, I says, the way money is still being dished out and poured into schemes, like putting Uncle Samuel into this business or that business, and driving old-time and good citizens out. And when the boys come home from Europe and elsewhere, I says, and find that we have let Socialism creep in while they were away, and their old job has pinched out, and has gone political. Oh Boy, will the fur fly. And it should.

Yours with the low down,

"BACK TO THE FARM"

To the man whose boyhood was spent on the farm there remains a life-long yearning to go "back to the farm". And though he can never quite recapture the thing he left there—the heart of a boy—there is always a thrill, accompanied by a resurgence of boyhood memories, to get "back to the farm", even if it is for only a brief spell.

Such a thrill, or rather succession of thrills, was the Managing Editor's pleasure last Sunday afternoon when Henry and Adolph J. Graff took him for an excursion over their farms. Their farms are part of their father's estate, the late Charles Graff, who in turn succeeded to a son's share of his father's estate, acquired in the early days of this county's colonization by Henri Castro and his thifty immigrants from Europe almost a hundred years ago. Lands belonging to the Charles Graff family extend from a mile east of the town of Hondo eastward to the Hondo creek, and consist of both farm and range lands as fine as can be found in Medina County.

Leaving town and turning south down the Graff lane for some two miles or so, we turned into a pasture at a left hand gate and our first stop was at a windmill and tank some distance out on the range at one of the highest points on the ranch. The car stopped and the three of us got out at the well. Several range cattle were congregated about the water and with the

THIS IS DEMOCRACY

"Democracy," said President Henry M. Wriston of Brown University, recently, "is simply the political aspect of an assertion of the supreme values in individual life. It was predicated upon the right to self-development, physical, mental and spiritual. It assumes man's infinite worth, and the measureless riches that arise from the variety of his inventiveness. It is designed to implement his right of self-expression in vocation and avocation. It puts the greatest possible reliance upon self-discipline and the least possible dependence upon compulsion. If democracy is worth fighting on all the continents of the earth to defend, it is worth a struggle to protect it at home. That faith is the way to national unity; it is the path to peace."

The individual has been the root cause of this country's progress and greatness. The Constitution was written to protect and preserve the individual from oppression by the state. That economic system which we call Capitalism simply reflects

WAR GARDEN INSECT SERIES—No. 1

Every Garden Plant Has Its Insect Enemies

The gardening beginner is inclined to pass up the first few bugs he sees as of no importance—and this is the worst possible mistake. The single bug in the spring can produce a bushel basket full of fall, so fall upon him with all your forces. Run him down with sprays and dusts and poison as the type of insect may indicate. Don't let the spring crop escape or you may lose much of the value of your garden.

In this series, we will tell you about many of the more common insects but remember, in general, that there are two ways to control them: By a contact spray that poisons them from the outside when it hits them—for example, Black Leaf 40 is so used—or by a stomach poison which the insects eat and which kills by its internal effects. In the latter case, lead arsenate is the standby. Sucking insects cannot be poisoned by internal treatment and some of our most destructive pests, such as aphids, are suckers.

Catch Them Young and Treat Them Rough

Remember that many egg-laying insects hatch out as a worm and often they are easiest killed in this stage. For example, while the grown asparagus beetle can be killed by covering the grown plants with a spray made of a pound of lead arsenate, one pound of soap and fifteen gallons of water, yet this spray is dangerous to humans when sprayed on the tips that are to be eaten, and so the tiny worms should be attacked as fast as they hatch by also spraying the edible tips with Black Leaf 40, using a teaspoonful in a quart of soapy water. Or the other will get him.

In spraying either with a contact spray, or with a stomach poison spray, we hear much about adding soap to the mixture. There is a definite scientific reason for this.

It is self-evident that in spraying either type of poison, a complete coverage is desirable. There should be tiny particles of lead arsenate, for example, on every part of the plant so that no matter where the pest eats, it will be poisoned. Soap suds spread more thoroughly than plain water, and distribute the spray material more evenly than can possibly be done if the soap is omitted. Remember, then, when spraying your garden, always add enough soap to make suds.

Killed by Lead Arsenate

Leafhoppers cause serious damage by what is called hopperburn or tip burn. This happens on beets, rhubarb, potatoes and many such plants. In the early stage, the leafhopper is in a wingless "nymph" stage and spraying or dusting with Black Leaf 40 will kill it. After the leafhoppers are grown, they fly readily and can not be handled effectively by poisons. Bordeaux mixture is also a control for leafhopper if used early.

The same general principles apply to "lower gardens that apply to vegetables. The insects lay eggs that in most cases hatch into worms, and the sooner action is taken with a spray gun, the less the loss.

Although the aphids grows in a different manner, not passing through the worm stage, the same general principles of early spraying apply.

came from the learned statesmen.

Says the Herald further:

"It is hard to conceive a doctrine more insidious and un-American. It is the right and it is the high duty of us all to criticize and condemn men in public office if their record is not what we think it should be.

"We are fighting a foe accustomed to 'liquidating' unsuccessful generals and public officials who do not conform to the standard of efficiency demanded by total war. It will be disastrous to us to allow the lazy or inept to remain in authority. The mordant criticism of the people must be allowed to work and finally have its effect through the ballot boxes of the nation.

"Let us be suspicious of those who tell us not to question. Instead of giving blunders further opportunity to blunder, let us force their removal.

"The people must establish a standard to which the leaders must conform. The leaders are responsible to the people and should be held strictly accountable. The sooner those in authority are made aware of that fact the sooner the victory will be gained. The halcyon days of Athens are over. If we are to survive, it must be under a Spartan discipline. We must keep the tenure of office so fluid, so dependant upon success that a Lycurgus can step forward.

"No longer can we judge the act by the motive. Now only results count. This is war!"

THE SCOPE OF GOVERNMENT

George Robinson in Houston Post The one permanent agency for the enslavement of the people is unrestrained government.

Step by step the plebians of ancient Rome pushed their demand for equal privileges with the patricians, and finally won, but their democracy failed to put itself under restraint; class wars ensued, and the empire of the Caesars followed.

Coming down to modern times, what do we find?

The revolution of '48 in France caused the German people anew to demand "freedom of speech, liberty of the press and a constitutional government." By treaties made with the various South German states in November, 1870, the Northern Confederation was changed into a German confederation, under the presidency of William I of Prussia.

There was the chance for a constitutional government patterned after the American system, but what do we find?

On January 18, 1871, in the palace of Versailles, the president of the German confederation, one William of Prussia, was solemnly proclaimed emperor of Germany.

It was this William's grandson who reigned in Germany during the World war.

And today Germany is ruled by one Hitler, who knows not constitutional restraint.

A hundred years ago, according to one historian, "the Teutonic love of freedom blazed forth in all the great cities of Germany"; today the totalitarian state that knows not freedom.

The lesson is plain; hold the government to its proper function of securing God-given rights, among which are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

As the government enlarges the scope of its powers, to that extent are the liberties of the people diminished.

LONGER LIFE FOR THINGS OF RUBBER

The great destroyer of rubber is oxygen, which breaks down rubber much as it crumbles iron to rust or powders paint to dust. Also, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture, continued exposure to high temperature shortens the life of rubber articles since heat stimulates chemical change. Moisture also bad, for most chemical reactions are speeded up in the presence of water. Sunlight, too, steps up oxidation.

The rubber chemists of the Bureau of Agricultural Chemistry and Engineering, now making efforts to produce rubber substitutes, or elastomers, from plentiful farm commodities, say that substances similar in composition are quite likely to be soluble one in the other. As an illustration of this principle, they call attention to the softening of tires and rubber tubing by lubricating oil or gasoline or kerosene. There is a relationship between the chemical composition of petroleum and of natural rubber, and petroleum is the source of a rubber substitute.

Vegetable oils are somewhat similar to rubber in composition and so they also may be bad for rubber. Storing alkalies, such as lye and the bleaching compounds having an odor suggestive of chlorine, damage rubber articles and utensils; also iodine, and cleaning fluids such as carbon tetrachloride.

Persons who use rubber articles should know which of them are likely to be damaged by the various destructive substances. Tires, rubber over-shoes, and hose used in shops and garages usually get most chemical damage from oil, grease and gasoline and from sunlight. On the other hand, rubber used in the household usually suffers more from cleaning materials, too much heat, or exposure to sunlight, as a hot water bottle hung in a sunny place on a bathroom wall.

Tires are injured by standing for long periods with weight on them or by standing on cinders which contain sulfur.

Bureau of Plant Industry has released for commercial production two new oat varieties, Ranger and Rustler, and an unnamed giant beardless barley, developed for both grain and forage. These are regarded as opportune aids in the meat production part of the Food-for-Freedom program. Several wheat, oat, and barley varieties under test are showing good resistance to disease and may prove worth while for grain as well as for forage.

SPRING AT HARMONY RANCH

The long French windows are open. The warm Spring sunshine beams like a filmy veil of woven gold. A perfect setting for dreams.

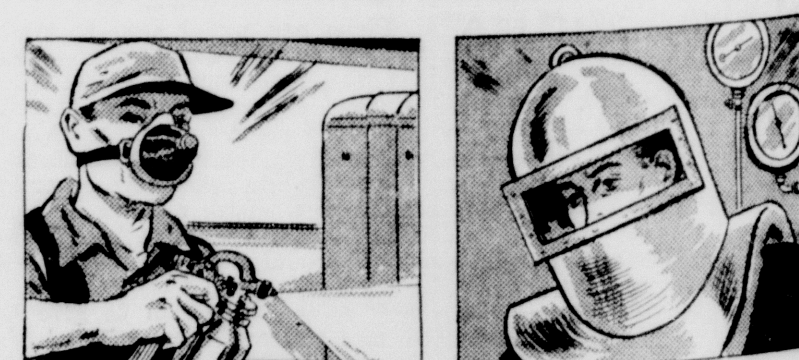

Joy-birds are singing their sweetest. As they flit from branch to branch. Then hover above their tiny homes. Their refuge at Harmony Ranch.

Magnolia buds are creamy. They can no longer hide. Their glorious flowers, dark shiny leaves. Make a foil for this Spring bride.

Violets spill their perfume. From a spot where fairies dance. The mystical charm of Springtime. Has arrived at Harmony Ranch. ELIE WILCOX BURT

Soldiers of Production

America's "soldiers of production," men and women working in the plants of American industry, have their uniforms, too. Some uniforms worn by G-E workers on vital production jobs are shown below.

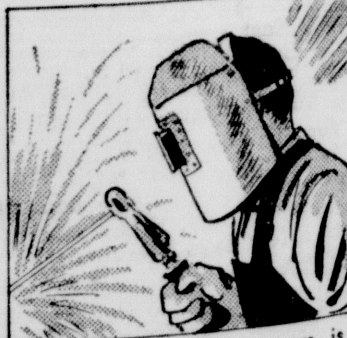

1. Not a gas mask, but a special nose mask to guard his breathing, worn by this spray painter at his job in one of the General Electric plants.

2. Like a man from Mars, the "cold room" research man is a strange sight as he tests airplane instruments for high-altitude performance in a G-E laboratory.

3. Frankenstein? No, just another G-E worker. His job is sandblasting big turbine castings for Uncle Sam's ships at one of the General Electric plants.

4. The helmet he wears is to protect him from light! The rays from a welder's arc could cause blindness if he did not wear this strange headgear.

General Electric believes that its first duty as a good citizen is to be a good soldier. General Electric Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

White carnations formed her corsage and her large hat was of navy net. She was given in marriage by her father, Mr. C. C. Gilliam of San Antonio. QUIHI NOTES

And Joseph answered Pharaoh, saying, It is not in me; God shall give Pharaoh an answer of peace. Gen. 41:16.

What commotion those dreams of Pharaoh brought upon the whole royal house! The whole land had heard of them. Everybody holding his breath and waiting for developments. There must be a solution, an interpretation! The whole clique of official dream-interpreters were slinking through their magnificent quarters with bowed and baffled heads. They not even dared to offer some plausible explanation of those dreams. A wrong interpretation was as bad as their silence and evasion. It had grown into a matter of life and death to them by now! Not one in the whole country that would come out of his seclusion and offer his or her services? None.

The same picture ever so often down to our jittery days. There is a legion of would-be wise men, of interpreters and prophets, of fortune and future readers, of crystal-gazers and clairvoyants, mediums and telepathists with bawling and vociferous claims of preternatural knowledge. They can locate any lost object, detect any suspect, read every mind, know all the hidden treasures, clearly see your future events, solve every problem, divulge every secret, explain every trend and current in individual and national life, discover plots and plans near and far, analyze premonitions and anxieties to a dot, and always offer their respective panacea—for hard cash, of course, whereas they would easily, discover mountains of gold and diamonds by dint of their would-be all-penetrating knowledge. You read of them and hear of them. They invade every section of the land and make their numerous game victims shell out.

And then let something of national or even world-wide importance turn up, a child of a prominent family is kidnapped; millions have mysteriously disappeared from some treasury; a large-scale trial is going and plotters are secretly operating; assassins have their hidden rendezvous, etc., where then, are those pretentious fellows to uncover these things? Were Lincoln or Garfield or McKinley advised by them before the murderers hand struck at them? No. How fast could they terminate this war by revealing the military secrets of the enemy, their plans of invasion and attack, spotting their submarines, analyzing the facts and fancies of propaganda war-news, deciphering their codes, revealing their secret diplomacy, proposing the most successful and decisive strategy with the least loss of life and destruction. At least they could tell us, positively and unmistakably, when and how this war will end and peace, a satisfactory peace, will do away with wars forever. Why are they not coming forth with their superior knowledge and insight and interpretation, where we common mortals are shrouded in fog and folly? Lack they the patriotic zeal? Can't they agree on the price for their service? Or is their proud and conceited activity nothing but a clumsy, large-scaled and sinister hocus-pocus scheme, a fleeing racket? Like those Egyptian magicians they stand with bowed and baffled heads. No, not they. They are busier than ever.

The excitement at the royal court was heightened when the baker related a few items about that Hebrew slave in the prison, who, as he and the ex-chief baker had experienced, was good at interpretation. Incredible, even absurd, and contrary to all good ethics and tact, it seemed to most of the listeners that such a youngster, with a doubtful aroma should outdo and outclass the specialists in interpretation. He is sent for. Urgently, hurriedly. A powerful ruler and his whole country await his arrival, his message. And there he stands, blinking in the splendor and galaxy of the court, but with good courage. His God comes with him.

The king speaks to the convict. What a sight! In brief words the monarch outlines the situation; the dilemma they are in; the high hopes he pins on the young man and his interpretative skill. "It is not in me," he answers. No boast, no pretensions, no self-glory. "God shall give Pharaoh an answer of peace!" That's his hope, his prayer for the king. Here is the humble attitude of a true hero. Here is the courage of a young confessor who acknowledges his adherence to God in the presence of the highest on earth.

A long sick list, but in every case we can report a fine recovery. The hospital period is over with and nearly all former patients could resume their daily working program. Among them are Mrs. Rosa Boehle, Mr. Otto Neumann, Mr. Willie Schmidt, Mrs. Emil Graff, Mrs. E. Walch is recuperating with relatives in the Fredericksburg section. Mr. Otto Lindeburg had a rather severe tumble with his fleet horse, but the bruises are about healed and the nerves in harmony by now. Mrs. W. Poehler is suffering a good deal with her eyesight, but we hope the case is not beyond remedy.

The Luther League program, for a once in many a moon, had to operate without the ever-ready and unfatigued choir. The audience kindly substituted and the numbers were delivered without a hitch. Thanks again. Quite a number had turned out and there was much on the program to take home for joy and mental digestion. The program for July, we append, and hope for a normal delivery as usually with every one on deck: Select readings, Mrs. Roy Dailey, Wilfred Schulte, Miss Agnes Hartmann; vocal selections, Mrs. Otto Lindeburg, Mrs. Ehme Saathoff, Mr. Rolf Saathoff; instrumental selection, Miss Hertha Weeber.

Washington Snapshots by JAMES PRESTON

The country is in revolt—at least, that's what many Congressmen think as they read their mail these days. Protests from the folks back home are pouring in—protests about the administration of many of the current wartime controls, particularly those imposed by the Office of Price Administration and the Office of Defense Transportation.

The majority of the protesters seem to realize that some controls are essential for the duration of the war. But they don't want the controls abused; they don't want more restrictions than are absolutely necessary; and they want to be sure that when the war is won the controls will be removed.

Wage stabilization is still a burning issue as pressure continues for an effective check on all the factors that contribute to inflation. Observers here believe that President Roosevelt will be requested to set up a board to coordinate and direct national stabilization of voluntary wage agreements. Armed with a White House directive, the board could step into the field of negotiated wage adjustments with several weapons.

Among other things, it could declare "disputes" and certify them to the War Labor Board, which now has the power to adjust and dispose of all labor disputes which may affect the conduct of the war; it could have the WPB Labor Division negotiate industry-wide wage agreements; it could request the Army and Navy to re-negotiate contracts with firms so that future profits would be cut to a point where companies could not grant pay raises.

Whatever the methods used, opinion here is that some way will have to be found quickly to prevent wages from getting out of hand and pushing prices up.

Legislation to prevent labor unions from escaping liability under the federal anti-racketeering laws is scheduled for early consideration on the House floor. A bill introduced by Representative Hobbs of Alabama in effect would repeal a recent Supreme Court decision which exempts labor unions from coverage by the 1934 anti-racketeering act.

Labor spokesmen and some Administration leaders are urging rejection of the bill on the ground that it would prevent any type of transportation strike and would invite an anti-labor movement in Congress.

Key provision of the bill is contained in this sentence: "Whoever in any way or degree obstructs, delays, or affects commerce, or the movement of any article or commodity in commerce, by robbery or extortion, shall be guilty of a felony."

The recent order of the War Manpower Commission requiring many employees in war industries not to change their jobs is regarded as only the first of similar orders to come as the Commission works out details of its plan for wholesale mobilization of workers for war work.

Government officials realize that industry must have many thousands of skilled employees if it is to continue to win the battle of production and beat its output schedules in the future as it has in the past.

THE WAR

A summary of the past week's war events reviewed by The National Editorial Association Defense Advisory Committee in cooperation with the Office of Government Reports.

FOR RELEASE JUNE 16
A WEEK OF THE WAR

The office of Price Administration fixed July 1, 2 and 3 as the dates for motorists in the Eastern states and the District of Columbia to register for their gasoline rationing books. The permanent rationing system in the East becomes effective July 15, and the unit value of existing ration cards was doubled to six gallons to carry motorists to this date. The OPA said motorists who hold A or B cards and have used all the units on them will not be able to get any more gasoline for the next 30 days unless they show need to a Local Rationing Board.

Only A books will be issued by school registrars. Supplemental B and C permanent rationing books, and bus and truck S books, will be issued by Local Rationing Boards any time between July 1 and July 15. These books will be "tailored" to fit needs of individual motorists and companies, the Office said. B books containing 16 additional coupons will have a variable expiration date; C books containing as many as 96 additional coupons will be issued for three months, but coupons in excess of a motorist's actual needs will be removed before the book is issued. Bus and truck S books will be good for four months and will cover just enough fuel for the mileage allowed in forthcoming ODT regulations. Gasoline service station operators will be required to turn over to suppliers the exact number of stamps for the amount of gasoline delivered to their stations.

Rubber And Oil
President Roosevelt ordered an intensive drive this week and next to collect from homes, offices, farms and factories all articles of rubber that have been or can be discarded. The scrap rubber is being collected by the Nation's gasoline filling stations, transported to central collection points by petroleum industry trucks and sold to the Rubber Recovery Corporation. Filling stations are paying a cent a pound for the rubber. Under Secretary of War Patterson reported Army and Navy crude rubber requirements during the 21 months after April 1, 1942, will be 800,000 tons, compared with the present U. S. reserve of 600,000 tons. He said he hoped the difference would be made up by the synthetic production program.

Commerce Secretary Jones said the RFC will finance the construction of a 24-inch pipeline from longview, Tex., to Salem, Ill., at an estimated cost of $35 million. The pipeline will be completed December 1 and will have a capacity of 300,000 barrels a day. It will require 125,000 tons of steel, the WPB said, but will not interfere with steel deliveries for Army, Navy and Maritime Commission needs. Mr. Jones said necessary personnel to construct and operate the line will be furnished by the industry.

Civilian Supply
The WPB limited the use of steel in the manufacture of baby carriages and prohibited the use of any other metal, except gold and silver, in such manufacture. The Board placed similar restrictions on production of liturgical articles such as crucifixes, chalices and candlesticks. Deliveries of welding rods and electrodes were restricted to orders with high preference ratings, or to specified Government agencies and accredited schools of welding. The Board prohibited use of any but low-alloy steels in manufacture of chisels, hammers, punches and other tools, and prohibited, after September 1, production of mattresses or pads containing iron or steel.

Office of War Information
Established
President Roosevelt created an Office of War Information, headed by Elmer Davis, writer and radio commentator, who was given authority to direct all the war information functions of the Government. The new agency will consolidate the functions and duties of the Office of Facts and Figures, the Office of Government Reports, the Foreign Information Service of the Office of the Coordinator of Information, and certain activities of the Division of Information in the Office for Emergency Management.

Foreign Relations
The White House announced the President and Russian Foreign Commissar Molotov reached "full understanding with regard to the urgent tasks of opening a second European front in 1942" at discussions held in Washington from May 29 to June 4. In addition, the President and Mr. Molotov discussed measures for speeding U. S. war aid to the Soviet Union and the fundamental problems of postwar cooperation to safeguard "peace and security to the freedom living peoples. Both sides state with satisfaction the unity of their views on all these questions," the announcement said. The State Department reported the U. S. and the Soviet Union have signed a Lend-Lease agreement similar to those between the U. S. and Britain and China.

The President announced the U. S. and Britain have established a combined production and resources board to bring together "the production programs of the United States and the United Kingdom into a single integrated program, adjusted to the strategic requirements of the war... and to all relevant production factors." Mr. Roosevelt also announced this country and Britain have established a combined food board to investigate and formulate plans on any question, common to both countries, "relating to the supply, production, transportation, disposal, allocation or distribution, in or to any part of the world, of foods, agricultural materials from which foods are derived, and equipment and non-food materials ancillary to the production of such foods."

The Armed Forces
The Senate completed Congressional action on legislation to raise the base pay of members of the Armed Forces to $50 a month, retroactive to June 1. The House passed and returned to the Senate a bill authorizing a basic allowance of $50 a month for dependents of members of the Armed Forces, $28 to be paid by the Government and $22 to be withheld from pay. The War Department reported arrangements have been completed for voluntary transfer to U. S. Armed Forces of Americans serving with Canadian armed forces.

The President asked Congress to appropriate $40 billion for the fiscal 1943 Army Supply Bill, including approximately $11 billion for the Air Force, $10 billion for Ordnance, $7 billion for Quartermaster and transportation services, $4 billion for Army pay, $3 billion for the Signal Corps, and $3 billion for the Corps of Engineers. The Senate passed and returned to the House an appropriation bill providing $650 million in cash and $2 billion in contract authorizations for the Navy Department. The House passed and returned to the Senate a bill authorizing the Navy to acquire a total of 200 lighter-than-air craft, an increase from 72 specified in the Senate legislation.

The War Department announced that previous flying experience has been eliminated as a necessary qualification for glider pilot candidates. Applicants must be between 18 and 36. Those without prior flying experience will receive five weeks of instruction in light power-driven airplanes. The Department said applicants for WAAC commissions will not be accepted if they have persons who are dependent on their pay.

The War Front
The Navy announced the Japanese "have made landings on a small scale on Attu Island, at the extreme tip of the Aleutian Archipelago and... Japanese ships have been reported in the Harbor of Kiska in the Ray Group." Continuing Army and Navy aircraft attacks have forced the enemy to retire from the populated regions of the islands, the Navy said. These U. S. attacks are continuing, despite unfavorable weather conditions. The War Department announced arrival of additional units of the U. S. Army, including Negro troops, in the British Isles. Results of the Coral Sea battle showed U. S. Naval Task Forces and land-based bombers sank one enemy aircraft carrier, three heavy cruisers, one light cruiser, two destroyers, several transports and small vessels; severely damaged and probably sank a cruiser and a destroyer; seriously damaged 20 additional vessels and shot down more than 100 enemy planes. U. S. losses were the aircraft carrier Lexington, the destroyer Sims and the tanker Neosho. In the battle of Midway Island two of the largest enemy aircraft carriers were sunk, two other medium-sized carriers were sunk and at least 250 Japanese planes were destroyed, the Navy said.

"A MOTHER'S PRAYER"

The following is a prayer (author unknown) sent to Mrs. Ira Schmidt from her sister, Mrs. D. H. McMordie, Dallas, Texas, who has a son somewhere in India. He is Cpl. Dudley H. McMordie, 3rd Air Dept., who left to go across more than two months ago and who has not been heard from.

Dear Jesus, bless my soldier boy. I know not where he is today. You know all about him, Lord. Please keep an eye on him, I pray.

If he is in a camp somewhere, Safe from shot and shell. Keep him faithful, true and brave, His body strong and well.

If he is homesick, Jesus, dear, Please be a friend to him. Fill his empty, aching heart. With your sweet love, divine.

He may not be on land, dear Lord But on the storm-tossed sea. Please be the pilot of his ship, And guide him safe for me.

If he is hungry, tired and cold, His courage almost gone, don't let him Lose his faith in Thee, For he must carry on.

Just keep your arms around him, Lord, His heart so warm and true: All I can do is pray for him, The rest depends on You.

I am so glad I know you, Lord, As a friend who never fails, You are the pilot and the guide Of every ship that sails.

Of every blood-washed soul who anchors Safe in Thee. So help me, Lord, to trust Thee

More and never anxious be, When all life's cares are over and we lay

Our crosses down, may every Mother's soldier Boy be worthy of a crown.

May he be standing at your side, When earth's last trial Is o'er, shouting praises to the King, his King, For ever more.

I know you've heard this little prayer from a Mother's heart today, his life is in your hands, Dear Lord, please shelter him, I pray. —AMEN.

Another day—another week—time waits for no man! So "God be with you till we meet again!"

WOMEN'S STUDY CLUB ORGANIZED

The Women's Club of D'Hanis was officially and inauspiciously launched with their first official meeting Friday, June 12, 1942. This club has been founded in the hope of holding on to the grace and dignity and beauty of the American way of life, in these war-torn days; offering a day of relaxation from every-day affairs and mind stimulation through good friends and good books.

Through a variety of subjects offered to the members for study and good conversation, there will be every opportunity for self advancement and pure enjoyment. Gardening, Interior Decorating, Current Events, Poetry, Drama, and Child Psychology are among the many subjects to be combined with current and classic literature for the year's program.

The women who for many months discussed the advantages and probability of founding such an organization in D'Hanis will be known as the Charter members and are, namely: Miss Josie Rothe, President; Mrs. J. P. Ephraim, Vice-President; Mrs. F. C. Stockley, Entertainment Chairman; Mrs. Hartman, Librarian; Mrs. Quaid, Maize, Reporter, and Mrs. Woodrow Glasscock, hostess for the first meeting.

New members introduced into the club Friday were Mrs. M. L. Riley and Mrs. Oliver Moore.

The first book review was given by Mrs. Stockley on the book "Lucille", by Owen Meredith, written in the nineteenth century.

"Lucille" is the romantic story of a very beautiful woman, whose character was above reproach, and the two men who loved her. The story shows character development through sorrow and the strength of will that comes with overcoming weaknesses inherent in the human soul. It is written in poetry form and most unforgettable and no less so because of the impressive and beautiful way it was given by a woman who reads poetry even of the most emotional nature as though it were a tender and personal thought from her to you.

In the few minutes allotted to the hostess as a special courtesy Mrs. Stockley also read a very interesting paper on the amazing prophesy of a Russian woman, Boriska, made many years ago and so much of which has paralleled our current war and the events which are now happening.

The year books of the Women's Study Club are to be hand-painted by Mrs. S. H. Willis who, although not a member, has graciously consented.

Frank Zimmermann of Castroville; two sisters, Mrs. Adolph Tschirhart of Castroville and Mrs. A. A. Huegele of San Antonio, and three grandchildren.

NOTICE TO ALL MEMBERS OF THE CASTROVILLE MUTUAL FIRE ASSN.

You are invited to attend our regular annual meeting to be held in the Public School Building at Castroville, Sunday, June 21, at 3:00 P. M. W. W. WERNETTE, Secretary.

The meeting was opened with a song, "My Country 'Tis of Thee" sung by all the fellow Leaguers. The Secretary read the approved minutes of the previous meeting. Everyone enjoyed the spiritual reading, "A Thought of the Day", read by Elrine Stolte.

Rev. Rieke, who is the chaplain of the Lutheran Service Center in San Antonio is going to leave for a permanent stay in Ohio very soon. He will be employed with work there. The San Antonio Federation has decided to have a surprise farewell for him Sunday, June 28. The Leaguers will have a short meeting after Sunday School June 21st to see how many will attend this surprise farewell for Rev. Rieke. We are very sorry to see him leave us.

Melrose Haby will bring her croquet set to the next meetings in order that the Leaguers will be able to play after the meeting.

Another native son of the parish, Rev. Roy Rihn, who was ordained to the priesthood in San Fernando Cathedral, San Antonio, June 4, by Archbishop Lucey, celebrated his First Solemn Mass Sunday, June 7, in St. Louis' Church here, the church in which he was baptized, received his First Communion, and served as acolyte.

A procession formed at the rectory and on its arrival at the entrance of the church, Evangeline Kempf, a cousin of Father Rihn, gave a congratulatory address; his niece, Mary Louise Rihn, carried the paten on a beautiful silk cushion.

The pastor, Very Rev. Dean Jacob Lenzen, assisted as archpriest; Rev. Alois J. Morkovsky, pastor, Sacred Heart Church, Hallettsville, as deacon, and Rev. Harold Ehlinger, assistant, St. Peter, Prince of Apostles' Church, San Antonio, as subdeacon; Rev. Mr. Gervase Tondre, of Castroville, student at St. John's Archdiocesan Seminary, San Antonio, was master of ceremonies.

Rt. Rev. Patrick J. Geahan, of San Antonio, vicar-general of the Archdiocese, preached.

After Mass, Father Rihn imparted his priestly blessing individually to the large congregation.

The visiting clergy, among whom were Very Rev. J. Leroy Manning, chancellor of the Archdiocese; Rev. George Beck, St. Mary's Cathedral, Galveston; Rev. J. J. Gerbermann, LaCoste, and Rev. Claude A. Faust, St. Ann's' Church, San Antonio, in addition to those mentioned above, were guests at dinner in the parish hall, besides the immediate relatives and close friends of the Rihn family.

Solemn Benediction, in St. Louis Church, at 2:30 P. M., was followed by an informal reception in St. Louis Hall.
